The Daily Oregonian.

[illegible]

[illegible]

SATURDAY MORNING, NOV. [illegible]

The Reasons Why.

The Advertiser [illegible], in his paper of [illegible] inst., [illegible] law, [illegible] prisoners [illegible] refusing to pay [illegible] of the taxes [illegible] Not [illegible] ture of the law. And why? [illegible] thinks because it [illegible] before the people, [illegible] thousand [illegible] weakens the [illegible] Government in its efforts to crush out [illegible] action of a rebellion, which is seeking [illegible] gle the Nation. If all the truth were known, he dislikes the law itself, and if he thought [illegible] those whom his treason teachings have seduced from loyalty [illegible] in their rebellion, have [illegible] that they will not pay the war tax at all. He dislikes [illegible] measures, by which the Government is able to sustain its armies. And he has a natural horror for [illegible]; he disapproves all efforts to stay the progress of rebellion; and by his teaching in the Advertiser, it is apparent that he would prepare the same immunity for traitors and public swindlers now engaged in their diabolical wickedness, as that under which traitors ripened their [illegible] the ruin of the country under the last months of James Buchanan's administration.

But the Advertiser will find that the objects of his—however industriously he may seek their accomplishment—will fail. The Government will be sustained by the great mass of the people, who will take [illegible] their loyalty, and traitors will meet their doom. The Advertiser's course may be [illegible] thus: A heart steeped in treason; an agonizing, dying clutch at the reins of power, which have passed from his party, the leader of which [illegible] now with the armed enemies of his country; the bitterness of defeat and disappointment, and a constant dread of the vitality of the Government he is seeking to destroy.

TAKING COMFORT.—The Advertiser takes comfort to itself from the resurrection of [illegible] funct treason-spouting sheet, the Sentinel, of Easton, Pennsylvania, which had been suppressed by the people, and says:

"Any cause that has to appeal to illegal means to sustain it, is bad, and [illegible] successful."

We say to the Advertiser that any man in the loyal States, who will publish the [illegible] and blasphemous treason which his paper has published, is a deep-dyed traitor, and as sure as patriotism triumphs over rebellion, he will meet the heavy penalty of his misdeeds.

FATALITY IN THE REBEL ARMY.—The Manassas correspondent of the Savannah Republican, writes: "There is a great deal of sickness in the army. This is [illegible] a healthy country at this season of the year. The remark applies to all the counties bordering on the Potomac from the Great Falls down. There are other reasons, however, for the unhealthiness of the army, and chief among them is the want of proper police regulations in the camps. The camps are not kept clean. The men seldom sweep their tents or air their blankets, while many of the camps are never swept at all. The result of all this negligence is a heavy list of sick. In a certain Mississippi regiment, where every man is permitted to do as he pleases, two-thirds of the entire command is on the sick list, while the deaths have reached as high as nine on one day."

THE ONLY TERMS OF PEACE.—The North must be made to sue for Peace, and be compelled to accept the terms which we will propose. This is the only way this war ought to be ended, and it is the only way it will be ended, unless the enemy in the meantime, as is highly probable, breaks down for the want of means wherewith to carry on the contest.—New Orleans Crescent.

This is pretty good authority on behalf of the South. How does the Advertiser like the terms on which it proposes to make peace?

Arrival of the Cortes.

[illegible] the Cortes arrived [illegible] We are indebted [illegible] Wells, Fargo & Co.'s [illegible] San Francisco papers in advance of their arrival here. The Bulletin of the 28th has dispatches that [illegible] the telegraph line [illegible] broken [illegible]

Reported Defeat of Ben. McCulloch.

[illegible] Lane and Montgomery [illegible] McCulloch [illegible] McCulloch [illegible]

[illegible] United States Paymaster [illegible]

The San Francisco Bulletin of the 28th says it is understood that Gen. Mansfield has been ordered to San Francisco, and Gen. Wright to Oregon.

JEFF. DAVIS' EDICT OF BANISHMENT.—Under date of August 14th, the perjured traitor at the head of the Confederate States, issued the following proclamation:

"I do hereby warn and require every male citizen of the United States, of the age of fourteen years and upwards, now within the Confederate States, and adhering to the Government of the United States, and acknowledging the authority of the same, and not being a citizen of the Confederate States, to depart [illegible] forty days after the date of this proclamation. "And I do warn all persons above described who shall remain within the Confederate States after the expiration of said period of forty days, that they will be treated as alien enemies."

Gov. Curry has great sympathy for traitors in the North. Has he a word to say against the banishment of Union men from the South?

The Difference.

A secessionist professing to be a democrat, is in favor of throwing every obstacle possible in the way of a successful completion of this war. He glories, if there are any signs of, small consequence; he talks of the cost of the war; he has no regard to its origin; and while professing to be a Union man, he rejoices at the defeat of our arms, and prays to God that our arms may be paralyzed.

Not so with the Union Democrat. He comes forward [illegible] Hon. James Monigan, a distinguished democrat of Missouri, says:

"If I have a single friend among your many readers, and I trust I have many, let me implore that friend to refrain in future from opposition to the Administration of Mr. Lincoln in the prosecution of this war to a successful issue, and if need be, to lend him his person, his purse and all of his influence in suppressing the rebellion. Let me assure him that every word of opposition from him but whets the steel in rebel hands whenever heard, and places it nearer and more determinately to the throats of the defenders of the Union [illegible]."

Such is the difference between a Secessionist and a Union man. The first is a traitor, and would join the army of the enemy. The last will stand by the Stars and Stripes until the re-establishment of the supreme Government in all the States and Territories. Gen. Butler says: "It is the grand tradition of the democratic party by land and by sea, to follow the flag wherever it waves in support of the Union."

The Boston Post.

The Boston Post is the great democratic paper of New England. At times past, the Advertiser made frequent quotations from it. That paper is for supporting the government at every hazard and at every cost. In a late number the editor says:

"There is no such thing as conciliation with the man while he has the knife aimed at your heart; instant death to him, is the only answer to return. If civil war will not preserve us, the abandonment of resistance will certainly be our destruction. [illegible] If it is war, civil war, fratricidal war, we are not to blame. The democracy of New York, and of the North, [illegible] with loyalty to the Union, and with that Patriotism which has been our nation's [illegible], and the right arm of our national success, [illegible] the olive branch [illegible] will not have it save by the destruction of the Government, the overthrow of the Republic."

That is the democracy of the Boston Post and of all the loyal States; and, as will be seen, it has no sympathy or affinity with the secession party of Oregon.

New source for a supply of Cotton.—Another source of cotton supply has just been revealed by Mr. R. C. Kendall, of Northern Maryland, who is now in this city. This is the [illegible] It appears from the [illegible] of Mr. Kendall, that several years ago, while [illegible] exploring the [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] plant [illegible] [illegible]

On return [illegible] Kendall [illegible] the [illegible] took them to [illegible] success was [illegible] satisfactory [illegible] several from the [illegible] farm and [illegible] Mr. Kendall is [illegible] public to this [illegible] subject before our citizens. According to the statement of Mr. Kendall, [illegible] pounds of cotton per acre can be produced from this tree, and he is confident that it can be cultivated on suitable soils on any part of the belt where Indian corn now grows. 300 pounds is about the average per acre of the common plant. And what is not the least remarkable about it, is that it produces a finer fibre and a longer staple as it approaches the cold regions. In its general qualities, the fibre of this plant is pronounced by cotton brokers equal to the best Sea Island. It has been sold in South American markets at 45 cents per pound.

Peace Men.—A Washington paper says—"The free States abound with spies, who under the cloak of loyal profession of the confidence of the Union men, which they use and abuse without hesitation. Washington city is the very nest of these vermin. They are often among the loudest to shout hosannas to the Union; but let a battle be lost to the American flag, and they cannot restrain their joy. The female Secessionists, who shelter themselves behind the impunities and privileges of their sex, delight in every kind of demonstration against the government, and are only dangerous when they irritate their lords and masters by pretending to sympathize with the cause of the country. Then they become the efficient and vigilant auxiliaries of Davis and his crew. It is believed here that, immediately after the movement upon Munson's Hill had been decided upon by the military authorities and the Cabinet, information was conveyed to the rebel troops across the Potomac, and upon this admonition they retreated without the loss of a man.
